

The image features a dark, textured background, possibly leather or cloth, with a large, complex geometric design in the center. This design is composed of numerous overlapping triangles and polygons in various shades of gray and black, creating a sense of depth and movement. The design is framed by a thin, dark border. At the bottom, there is a horizontal band containing the text "the 1930 centralian" in a gold-colored, serif font.

CALVIN W. JARVIS

AS a headlight guides one along a dark and unknown path, so has Calvin W. Jarvis guided us along the highroad of life. His clear intelligence has smoothed the way for us and has lightened a path to guide us on to new adventures after we have passed the milestone of high school life.

He has fulfilled his duties as principaal in a way commendable to the entire school. No trouble nor complaint has been too slight for him to listen to patiently and remedy to the best of his ability.

The reflecting rays of his teachings and our admiration for his sportsman-like qualities have endeared him to the school.

ANNA BELLE THOMAS

A CLEAR white light, permeating our lives, cheering our hearts, and elevating our ideals—such is Miss Anna Belle Thomas. She, who illuminates the ways of truth and wisdom, guides our destinies and develops our abilities.

Her efficiency as an administrative officer in our high school government has not lessened the glow of understanding sympathy that makes everyone her friend. None of our problems is too great for her to solve.

The devotion radiating from her meets the steady glow of sincere respect and admiration of the senior classes, who feel that their lives have been inspired by her influence.

JOAN DORR O'BRIEN

THE PRISM catches the beam and divides it into myriad qualities. Understanding of young people, interest, and efficiency in handling them are like lights and shadows on a screen.

The influence of Mrs. Joan Dorr O'Brien as student counselor may be likened to a beam of good-fellowship in our everyday life. Through her constant, well-directed efforts, many Central students have been shown how to do their best work. Through her ability to understand student situations she has established many bonds of lasting friendship and appreciation.

Her varied experiences as a teacher and a home visitor have admirably fitted her for the position. Through these contacts she gained much of her sympathetic understanding which has so endeared her to our hearts. In her present role as councillor she is a guiding light, assisting students in planning their chosen vocations.

IN MEMORIAM

*"I pray the Lord my soul to keep—
From city's clamor to God's deep,
My being calmed, I drift to sleep."*

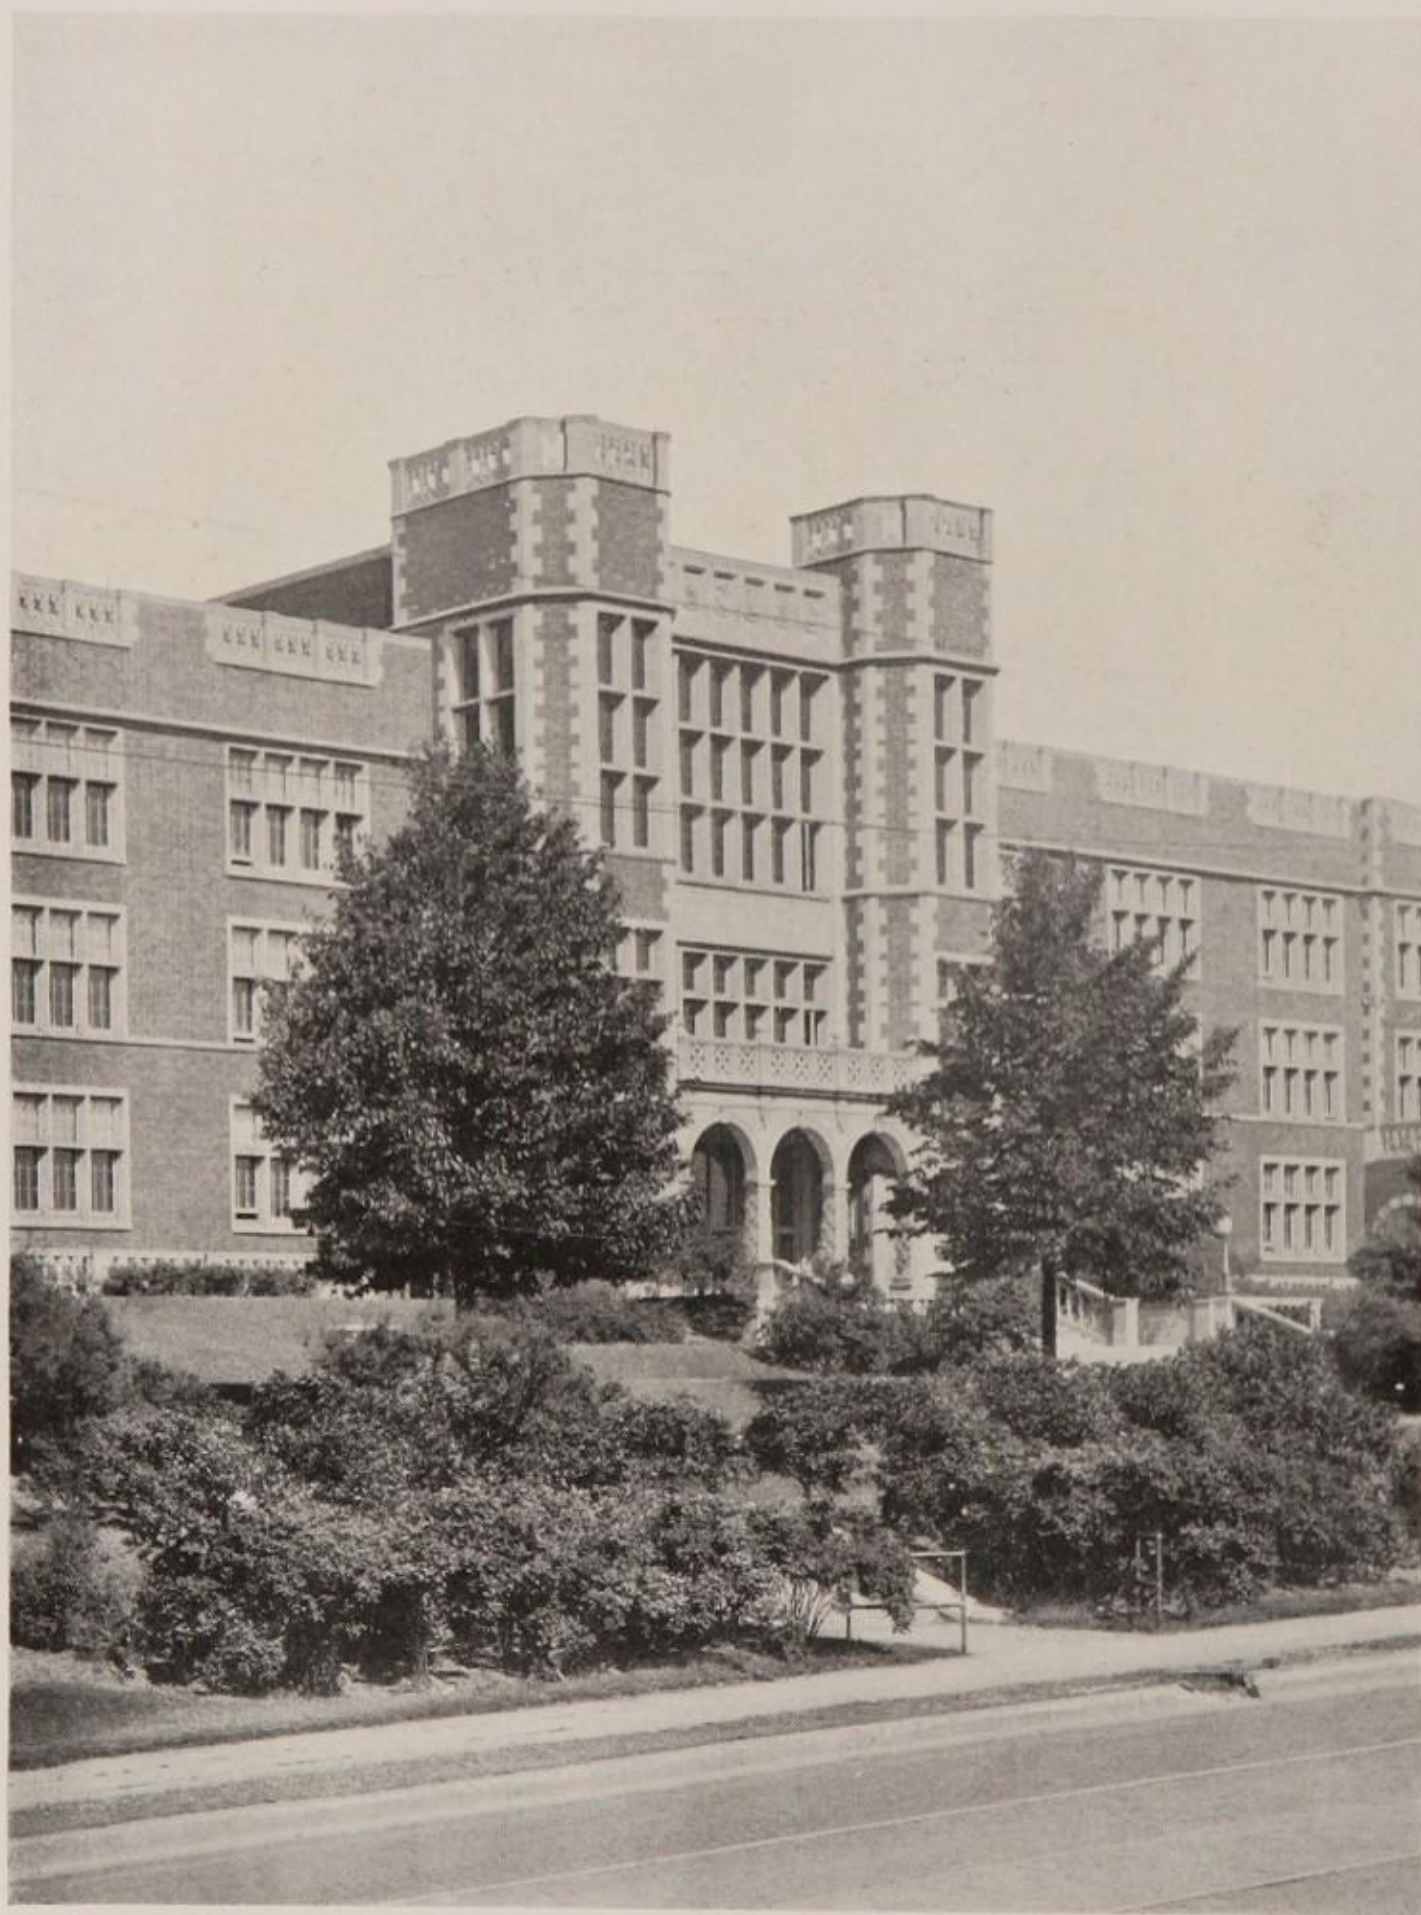

CLARE F. HELLIWELL

SO wrote Miss Clare F. Helliwell in a poem called "My Cosmos" which she composed a short time before her death, which occurred on Christmas night.

In her passing Minneapolis has lost a good citizen; Central high school a fine teacher. Hers was a rare personality in which were combined a strict devotion to duty, a keen sense of ethics, and an uncompromising attitude toward loyalty and truth. The students will remember her kind, generous, sympathetic spirit; her fellow teachers, her loyalty, devotion to duty, and co-operation.

Her passing has left us an ideal that will be difficult to follow.

THE ORCHESTRA

THE Central High orchestra completed another successful year under the able direction of Sydney H. Morse. It is a fully balanced symphony orchestra of seventy students and has, on many occasions, won the praise of music critics.

Having captured four state championship titles in the past five years the group was eligible to enter the national contest.

ROBIN HOOD

"ROBIN HOOD," Reginald de Koven's charming opera of Sherwood Forest, was very successfully given to capacity houses on the nights of March 6 and 7 under the skilful direction of Sydney H. Morse, music instructor.

Kirk Holmes, January '21, returned to take the part of Robin Hood in a very impressive manner. Vivian Anderson as Maid Marian handled her part exceedingly well on Thursday night, while Margaret Byers in the same characterization Friday night presented a fiery and spirited impersonation.

As Robin Hood's merrie men, Roger Holt and Sheldon Gray gave exceptional performances while Ernest Garven, Fred Lenz, and Harold Garven in the parts of Friar Tuck, Guy of Gisbourne, and Sheriff of Nottingham respectively, added humor with their quips and cranks.

Gladys Lindgren and Betty Johnson as Allan-a-Dale also deserve favorable mention in this unusual cast with its fullness and richness of tone quality.

Beside these leading characters the choruses of archers, villagers, milkmaids, tinkers, and king's men added color, life, and spontaneity to the already superb performance. The opera was presented by the Central Glee clubs with the orchestra playing the accompaniments.

COMEDY CONCERT

A SPIRIT of frivolity and fun prevailed at the seventh annual Comedy Concert on April 3 and 4. After an overture by the Central High Orchestra, a colorful act, "In a Paris Garden," was presented by the French Club.

"The Tragedy of Sofapillio" was the Latin Club's offering, and that skit alone was worth the admission price. The Skylite Club presented "The Tomb," an Egyptian scene which was interesting for its setting and color as well as for plot. Obie Helmerson with his harmonica band and Dolores Robinson's whistling solo were entertaining.

The Faculty Play, "Spreading the News," was a vivid portrayal of Irish country folk. John Mulligan, Orrin K. Kuenster, Miss Alice Hussey, Charles Addington, Ross Peck, Mrs. Mary Percy, Calvin W. Jarvis, Wilbur Lindsten, Walter Rodgers, and Miss Dorothy Leahy were members of the faculty who took part. With its cast dressed as people from Toyland, the Girls' Club offered a picturesque presentation of the "Wedding of the Painted Doll."

Evelyn Brown offered a screamingly funny song and dance number, "Down on Thoity-Thoid and Thoid." "The Silver Moon Revue," with Paul Jasmin as master of ceremonies, closed the program.

THEY called him a “poor nut,” laughed at his inferiority complex and at his passion for algae—all but Marjorie Blake. She respects his eccentricities and is so kind to him that he forgets her when Julia Winters, a coed from Wisconsin, arrives at Ohio State to cheer for her school at a track meet. Julia, a student of psychology, psychoanalyzes John Miller, the “poor nut,” and promises to marry him if he beats her former sweetheart, “Spike” Hoyt, in the relay race. As a result, he out-runs “Spike.” But it isn’t until Julia has made all the arrangements for their wedding that night that John discovers that it’s the demure Marjorie whom he loves. He then conquers his inferiority complex.

“The Poor Nut” by J. C. Nugent and Elliot Nugent was presented by the January class on the night of Friday, December 13, under the capable direction of Miss Lorine Grosz.

“PRIDE and Prejudice,” Mrs. Steele Mac Kaye’s dramatization of Jane Austen’s novel of early nineteenth century life, was charmingly enacted by the June class. That a single man in possession of a good fortune must be in want of a wife is a truth which is universally acknowledged, and which prompted Mrs. Bennet to have her designs upon the eligible bachelors of the neighborhood for her five pretty daughters. The subsequent difficulties which arise before two of them are married and a third elopes, furnish the humorous plot of the play.

Pretty nineteenth century settings and costumes give a colorful touch of quaintness and charm to the play which was presented on the evenings of May 22 and 23 under the direction of Miss Lorine Grosz.

FOOTBALL

WITH but two regulars and six other lettermen back to form a nucleus for a team, coach Joe Markley and assistant coach Weston Mitchell built another formidable eleven. The lettermen were Tengler, Terp, Stokes, Martin, Ed DuLac, Sorem, Ellis, and Anderson. From this material a fighting Central team was developed which won three impressive victories over Washburn, Edison, and West, and dropped close games to North, Marshall, South, and Roosevelt.

CARL TENGLER

In the feature games of the season with South and West, the team displayed its best strength when they lost to the championship South team by a 14 to 6 score, and on Homecoming Day rallied in the final quarter to defeat West 9 to 6.

BASKETBALL

STARTING the season with but two veterans, George Roscoe and Roger Martin, Coach Weston Mitchell turned out one of his usual excellent teams, finishing in a tie for second place with Edison. Wayne Peterson, Herbert Petrich, Bernie Palmer, with the two veterans, were moulded into a strong offensive and defensive team, dropping but two games and winning eight.

Early season victories made the Central five seem invincible, but in the fourth game, Edison won a surprise victory by a 25 to 23 score, forcing the Pioneer team to second place. The Edison and Marshall games were the most exciting of the season. George Roscoe, Herbert Petrich, and Bernie Palmer received all-city mention and were especially outstanding.

SWIMMING

CENTRAL'S 1930 tanksters, coached by William Hawker, had a fairly successful season, finishing in third place in the inter-school competition and second in the city meet. The splashers, captained by Richard Skinner, and strengthened by the veterans Max Moulton, Kenneth Ray, and George Patterson made an exceptionally strong team which just missed a championship.

Sevareid, Olson, Hanson, Douglass, Weeks, Ferris, and Swanson completed the swimmers' squad. In the city meet Central was nosed out by West, thereby taking second ahead of Edison. Max Moulton, Richard Skinner, and George Patterson were the most consistent point winners of the pioneer team.

THE hockey team, coached by Edward Krueger, and having Captain Clyde Russ, Jerome DuLac, Jack Jackson, and Ray Freide, veteran lettermen returning from the previous season, made a very impressive showing finishing in third place. Besides the veterans, Fred Ryman, Philip Wells, Kenneth Pfeleiter, Harry Blomberg, Leonard Day, and Donald Giegoldt completed the squad.

Handicapped by the lack of practice and inadequate reserves, the pucksters did remarkably well, winning the two Marshall games and dropping the West and Washburn tilts by a close margin, only after a hard fight. Captain Russ and Freide were especially brilliant for the Pioneer Ice Six.

GOLF

WITH three lettermen returning to build a team, Coach C. W. Jarvis, developed a golf team which broke even during the spring play. The team was composed of three veteran club swingers in Harvey, Holmes, and Petrich, and Stanton and Zimmerman, who won places through the tournament. The team lost several close matches during the season's play in which West swept through undefeated.

Stymied and bunkered by lack of veterans and ineligibility, a team moulded about Holmes and Petrich didn't fare as well as expected. Hirschhoff and Brooke became members by placing in the fall tournament. Again several matches were dropped by close scores which lowered the team's win column.

TENNIS

CENTRAL'S spring and fall tennis teams under the tutelage of A. C. Buresh, again won two more city championships. This makes a record of nine consecutive titles and twelve within the last fourteen seasons. The spring team of racketeers composed of Marvin Krohn, Armand McCaughey, and John and Paul Scherer went through the season undefeated, dropping only one match.

Following in the footsteps of previous winners, the fall court team consisting of John and Paul Scherer, Burton Blase, and Cortland Miller, triumphed again for Central. John and Paul Scherer were especially brilliant, but the other two members played consistently throughout the season.

TRACK

WITH but four lettermen, two of whom were handicapped by injuries part of the season, coach Joe Markley again moulded a championship team. The lettermen included Brindmore, Jensen, Ostbye, and Captain McCune, the latter two performing under difficulties because of injuries sustained in other sports.

The team won the city meet for the seventh successive season, and again triumphed in the Hamline Relays. In the Carleton meet, they garnered enough points to finish third. Captain Eugene McCune, Roy Ostbye, Chet Jensen, and Richard Brindmore ran consistently throughout the season to gather the most points for the Central team.

The squad placed fifth in the city meet and seventh in the Northwestern Gymnastic meet at the University armory. In the Northwestern meet Ray Hanson garnered fourth place in the individual averages with an average of 91.2. FOUR junior and senior teams fought it out for the supremacy in hockey, meeting on the athletic field before school in the morning. After five games the junior and senior teams ended the season in a deadlock, each winning two games and tying the final contest.

GIRLS' SOCCER

Forget the Price . .
Look at the Style and Quality

You can't think of Richman Brothers Clothes, fairly, in terms of $22.50 . . . for they are beyond all comparison with any other clothes sold at that price, or a price near it.

Nine out of every ten men you ask will guess that your new Richman suit or topcoat cost you $50, or more . . . unless you tell them where you bought it. They look expensive because they are styled and tailored by the best designing and manufacturing talent in the clothing industry . . . because they are made of the same fine fabrics others sell at twice the Richman price.

*Any Suit, Topcoat or Dress Suit
